Writing the substance of short lectures to be delivered by the child himself and of those delivered by other children. Writing letters and replies.

CLASS VIII.

Reading.—Reading, and answering questions on the matter read. Listening and answering questions on the matter heard.

(Ample supplementary readers should be provided, and attention should be paid to facility. The children should sometimes be required to read and obtain the substance of a fairly long passage within a limited time. The use of books of reference should be taught.)

Substance-writing in English from the supplementary reader. Letter-writing, including simple business letters, applications for employment, etc., the correct form of address and conclusion should be carefully taught.

CLASSES IX AND X.

Head Masters will frame their own course guided by the Syllabus for the Matriculation or School Final Examination.

Silent reading should be encouraged both in and out of class.

Practice in conversation should be continued. English debates on simple subjects. Oral composition should be done as a preparation for written composition.

Essays. Substance-writing in English. Translation.

Letter-writing.—In written work the pupils should be taught to aim at writing a little correctly rather than a great deal incorrectly. Every mistake should be carefully noted by the individual pupil in order that it may never be repeated. Every pupil should possess a dictionary and should be allowed to use it at all times. (There should therefore be no excuse for spelling errors.) The teacher's aim should be to prevent errors, and pupils should be encouraged to ask, whenever they are in doubt as to the correctness of an expression, before committing it to writing.

. SYLLABUS IN BENGALI FOR SECONDARY SCHOOLS OF BENGAL.

CLASS III.

Reading.—A fairly large vocabulary and some facility in reading have already been acquired in the primary stage. In this class, much individual reading aloud, correction of mispronunciation of words and insistence on clear utterance are required. Meanings of difficult words and expressions should be given, and individual readers should be questioned about the portions read. There should be pattern reading by the teacher; and at the end of each lesson, members of the class should give a summary in their own words of what they have read.

One or more supplementary readers should be selected for rapid silent reading. The teacher should occasionally test this reading by means of a few questions.

Poetry.—A number of poems should be selected and read aloud by teacher and pupils. The meaning of every word need not be explained, but the leading ideas of each poem should be understood. A minimum of 40 lines of poetry should be learnt by heart.

Speech Training and Composition.—Simple conversations about familiar objects and actions, and topics of the reading lessons; stories told by the teacher, and retold by the class; and verbal descriptions of pictures shown to the class. New words from the readers should be used in simple sentences. The pupils should be encouraged to ask questions so as to show in what way their vocabulary needs supplementing.

Transcription from the black-board and from the readers. Spelling of words in the readers.

Dictation of words and sentences previously learnt in the readers. The average length of a piece of dictation should be six lines.

Easy written composition on concrete and simple subjects, e.g., accounts of common sights and experiences, descriptions of pictures, and reproduction of stories. The pupils should possess a fairly complete stock of ideas about a subject before beginning to write.

Great stress should be placed on simplicity of language.

Commas and full stops should be required.

Grammar.—Parts of a sentence. Nouns, verbs, pronouns, adjectives and adverb (without sub-classification) and their uses in simple sentences. Examples of simple স্বরসন্ধি (combination of vowels) and the connected rules.

CLASS IV.

Reading.—On similar lines to Class III. Much individual reading aloud is desirable in order to correct mispronunciation of words and to secure reasonable fluency. The essential quality to be secured here is clear utterance.

Pupils should give briefly and in their own words the substance of the passages which they have read.

There should be at least one reader for detailed study and reading aloud. At least two others should be provided for rapid and silent reading under the teacher's supervision. The teacher should also read aloud stories and interesting extracts to the class.

Poetry.—Poems should, of their kind, be first-rate. A number of simple poems should be read aloud by teacher and pupils during the year. At least 60 lines of poetry should be learnt by heart.

Speech Training and Composition.—The simple conversation, composition, dictation, transcription and spelling should be continued as in Class III, but in a more advanced way.

Great stress should be placed on simplicity of language.

Grammar.—Revision of previous grammar in connection with more difficult sentences. Number and gender of nouns and pronouns. Formation of common feminine forms of nouns and of adjectives. Numerals and ordinals. Adverbs and their uses in sentences. The conjugation of the chief tenses of verbs. More difficult cases of স্বরসন্ধি and ব্যঞ্জনসন্ধি. Easy examples of principal kinds of কারক and বিভক্তি. Uses of অব্যয়.

Translation.—Easy short paragraphs selected from the English textbooks into simple Bengali.

CLASS V.

Reading.—Individual reading aloud will be continued. Special attention should still be given to correct pronunciation, clear utterance and proper intonation.

Oral summaries of passages read aloud should now be of a more connected and continuous character.

The teacher should still frequently read aloud to the class in order to assist the members in improving their standard of reading.

There should be at least one reader for detailed study and reading aloud; and at least two others for more rapid and silent reading under the supervision of the teacher. The silent reading should be tested both orally and by means of written exercises.

Poetry.—The treatment in Class IV should be continued with more difficult poems. The central idea of each poem should be understood by the class. At least 80 lines of poetry should be learnt by heart.

Composition.—The possession by the pupils of a good stock of ideas about a subject before they begin to write is of great importance. It is well for the pupil to collect their ideas and state them orally before beginning to write. The teacher should now do less talking, and allow the pupils to do more.

The written work should include summaries of lessons, simple narrative and descriptive compositions, and construction of sentences based on words and expressions from the readers.

Each composition should consist of several paragraphs, and each paragraph should have its own central idea. Great stress should be placed on simplicity of language.

Punctuation marks should be taught.

Time should still be set apart for the learning of spelling from the readers. The teacher should select paragraphs of about ten lines from the readers for dictation tests.

Grammar.—Revision of previous grammar. Further discussion of ব্যঞ্জন শব্দ, chief kinds of শব্দ, and their uses. Cases of nouns and pronouns. Comparatives and superlatives. Participles and gerunds. Change of voice. Conjugation of principal tenses. Simple ideas of বস্তুজ্ঞ। Enlargement of subject and predicate. Analysis of simple sentences.

Translation.—Short paragraphs from the English text-books into simple idiomatic Bengali. The result should not only be grammatical, but should read smoothly and naturally.

CLASS VI.

Reading.—As in Class V. In the case of the readers for detailed study, there should be full explanation of difficulties by the teacher, and connected accounts of what has been read by the pupils.

Silent reading under the teacher's supervision and testing of the knowledge thus acquired should be continued.

There should be at least one reader for detailed study and reading aloud; and at least three others for silent reading.

Poetry.—On similar lines to Class V. At least 100 lines of poetry should be learnt by heart.

Composition.—The pupils should collect their ideas about a subject beforehand, and state them orally before beginning to write. Fuller connected accounts of what the pupils have seen, heard or learnt should now be required.

The written composition should include descriptions, the invention and reproduction of simple stories, and practice in the use of easy idiomatic sentences. Exercise may also be given in the expansion of ideas contained in proverbs, and in the expansion of the same idea in different ways.

Letter-writing of a simple kind should be taught; home topics should be largely dealt with.

Instruction should be given in elementary points of arrangement and punctuation.

Great stress should be placed on simplicity of language.

Spelling of words in the readers and of the corrected forms of composition mistakes should be continued. Dictation of passages already prepared from the readers about 12 lines in length.

Grammar.—Revision of Sandhi and Samas. Rules of বাক্য and বাক্য। Formation of nouns from adjectives, and of adjectives from nouns. Cases of nouns and pronouns in greater detail. The extension of the predicate; compound and complex sentences; and noun, adjectival and adverbial clauses. Change of voice: conversion of sentences. কৃৎ and ভুক্ত।

Translation.—As in Class V. Long sentences should be avoided.

CLASS VII.

Reading.—Reading aloud should be continued, but it should be of less frequent occurrence. Silent reading under the supervision of the teacher should be proportionately increased. There should be at least one reader for detailed study and reading aloud, and at least four others for silent reading. The silent reading should be systematically tested.

Each pupil should now possess a dictionary, and should use it constantly for the explanation of difficult words and phrases.

Poetry.—On similar lines to the preceding classes. A general knowledge of a fair number of standard narrative poems should be expected. Poems should be read aloud by both teacher and individual pupils. A minimum of 120 lines of poetry should be learnt by heart.

Composition.—This should now include descriptions of familiar scenes, subjects of topical interest or obtainable from observations, or from books within the pupils' reach; selections of these should be read out and criticised by the class. Exercises in the development of outlines.

The reduction of involved sentences into two or more easy ones; the expansion of ideas; and the construction of new sentences using words and expressions found in the readers may be dealt with. More difficult idiomatic sentences should be required.

Short easy letters about matters within the pupils' experience should be written.

Great stress should be laid on simplicity of language and on the proper arrangement of the composition.

Spelling of words from the readers and of the corrected forms of composition errors, and dictation of passages of about 12 lines should be continued.

Grammar.—Derivative nouns and adjectives in common use and sentences containing them. Change of voice. Causative verbs. Idiomatic use of common words and phrases. Exercises in word-building. Use of উপসর্গ, কৃৎ and ভুক্ত।

Syntax of nouns, adjectives, pronouns and adverbs. Comparison of direct and indirect narration in Bengali and English.

Translation.—Comparatively long and difficult passages into idiomatic Bengali. The translation should not be rendered word for word; the phraseology should be altered, if necessary, but the result should really represent the thought of the original.

CLASS VIII.

Reading.—As in Class VII, but with more difficult readers. Reading aloud should still be continued, but to a less extent than in Class VII. The teacher should occasionally read aloud passages of special literary merit.

The time allowed for silent reading will be increased, but it will be carefully supervised and tested by the teacher. The aims should be to give pupils a liking for good books and the power of reading them intelligently and quickly.

The regular use of the dictionary should be encouraged. The importance of the clear understanding of the main ideas of a lesson in comparison with the explanation of difficult words should be borne in mind.

There should be one reader for detailed study and reading aloud; and at least four others for silent reading.

Poetry.—As in Class VII, with more difficult poems. Both teacher and pupils should still read poems aloud. A minimum of 120 lines of poetry should be learnt by heart during the year.

Composition.—General class conversation on the coming composition should be continued. Composition exercises should be varied and may include the summaries of lessons, expansion and condensation of ideas, descriptions of games, imaginary conversations, and stories made up from pictures. More difficult exercises in the development of outlines.

Pupils should be set to get their own information unaided, and to use books of reference.

Ordinary business and formal letters and the answering of enquiries and advertisements.

Grammar.—Derivative adjectives in common use and sentences containing them. ক্র এবং ভবিষ্যৎ । Conversion of sentences from one form to another, e.g., from simple to complex, from compound to complex, etc. Expression of ideas in a sentence in different ways. Use of the same word as different parts of speech. Common errors in speech. Differences between Bengali and English grammar. Accent, pauses, metre and grammatical peculiarities in connection with Bengali poetry. Simple figures of speech.

Translation.—Paragraphs from the English text-books should be rendered into idiomatic Bengali; simple Bengali sentences should be insisted upon; regular and systematic exercises should be given.

CLASSES IX AND X.

Head Masters should draw up their own Syllabuses for Classes IX and X guided by the Syllabus for the Matriculation Examination of Calcutta University.

The following should be kept in mind when drawing up the Syllabuses:—

- (1) Reading aloud of standard pieces of prose and poetry by both teacher and pupils should be continued.
- (2) Books for silent reading should be carefully chosen; the pupils are thus guided towards a taste for real literature.
- (3) In silent reading, the pupils should acquire skill in the rapid extraction of meaning from the printed page.
- (4) The writing of composition and essays should be on subjects within the powers of the pupils. The language should be of a simple character and grammatically correct. Headings should sometimes be given on the black-board, but pupils should be encouraged to collect their own information from books or from works of reference.
- (5) Little attention should be given to complex grammatical rules. An accurate knowledge of Bengali will be gained more easily by careful practice in reading, writing and speaking Bengali than by mere knowledge of grammatical theory.
- (6) Translation of both kinds should be practised as a preparation for future professional or commercial duties.

If two straight lines intersect, the vertically opposite angles are equal.

If two triangles have two sides of the one equal to two sides of the other, each to each and also the angles contained by these sides equal, the triangles are congruent.

If two sides of a triangle are equal, the angles opposite to these sides are equal; and the converse.

If one side of a triangle is produced, the exterior angle is greater than either of the interior opposite angles.

CLASS VII.PROBLEMS.

Bisection of angles, and straight lines.

Construction of perpendiculars to straight lines.

THEOREMS.

If two sides of a triangle are unequal the greater side has the greater angle opposite to it; and the converse.

Any two sides of a triangle are together greater than the third.

Of all straight lines that can be drawn to a given straight line from a given point outside it, the perpendicular is the shortest.

When a straight line cuts two other straight lines, if—

(1) a pair of alternate angles are equal, or

(2) a pair of corresponding angles are equal, or

(3) a pair of interior angles on the same side of the cutting line are together equal to two right angles.

then the straight lines are parallel, and the converse.

THEOREMS.

- The sum of the angles of a triangle is equal to two right angles; and the two corollaries thereto.
- If two triangles have two angles of the one equal to two angles of the other, each to each, and also one side of the one equal to the corresponding side of the other, the triangles are congruent.
- If two right-angled triangles have their hypotenuses equal and one other side of the one equal to one other side of the other, the triangles are congruent.
- The opposite sides and angles of a parallelogram are equal; each diagonal bisects the parallelogram; and the diagonals bisect one another.
- If there are three or more parallel straight lines and the intercepts made by them on any straight line that cuts them are equal, then the corresponding intercepts on any other straight line that cuts them are also equal.
- Parallelograms on the same or equal bases and of the same altitude are equal in area.
- Triangles on the same or equal bases and of the same altitude are equal in area.
- Equal triangles on the same or equal bases are of the same altitude.

- There is one circle and only one which passes through three given points not in a straight line.
- Equal chords in a circle are equidistant from the centre; and the converse.
- The angle at the centre of a circle is double of an angle at the circumference standing on the same arc.
- Angles in the same segment of a circle are equal; if the line joining two points subtends equal angles at two other points on the same side of it, the four points lie on a circle.
- The opposite angles of any quadrilateral inscribed in a circle are supplementary, and the converse.
- The angle in a semi-circle is a right angle; the angle in a segment greater than a semi-circle is less than a right angle; the angle in a segment less than a semi-circle is greater than a right angle.
- In equal circles or in the same circle (1) if two arcs subtend equal angles at the centre they are equal; (2) conversely, if two arcs are equal they subtend equal angles at the centres. In equal circles or in the same circle, if two chords are equal they cut off equal arcs; and the converse.
- The tangent at any point of a circle and the radius through the point are perpendicular to another.

The square on one side of a triangle is greater than, equal or less than the sum of the squares on the other two sides according as the angle contained by those sides is obtuse, a right angle, or acute. The difference in the case of inequality is twice the rectangle contained by one of the two sides and the projection on it of the other.

If two chords of a circle intersect either inside or outside the circle the rectangle contained by the parts of the one is equal to the rectangle contained by the parts of the other.

The following should be borne in mind when drawing up the Syllabuses:—

- (1) The aim should be to present a solid amount of definite historical knowledge, developing the sense of time and laying more stress on relationships of cause and effect as the pupil grows older.
- (2) The treatment of the subject should be of a continuous nature.
- (3) A text-book should be used and every pupil should possess a copy. The teacher will pass lightly over certain parts, emphasise others by more careful treatment, and from his greater knowledge and more certain insight, introduce much explanation and illustrative matter orally.

- (5) The teacher should set portions of the text to be read at home in advance, with questions set to keep the attention of the boys on what is of real importance. The actual lessons should be devoted to exposition, by a mixture of lecturing and questioning, of what the boys have read.
- (6) Recent history should not be taught by reigns. Some teachers make use of connected stories under such heads as "The Growth of the Empire." Others teach through the lives and careers of the men who played a principal part in them, e.g., the growth of the Moghul through the life and work of Akbar.

They should also have some acquaintance with book-binders' cloth and calico strips for binding edges; and fancy and coloured surface papers for embellishing and mounting.

7. Cardboard should be used in three thicknesses, viz.: (i) thin, (ii) medium, and (iii) thick, depending on the dimensions of the model to be constructed.

CLASS IV.

1. With the practice gained in drawing out and constructing the geometrical models in class III, the pupil will now be able to proceed to more difficult but more interesting models.

2. The following models are suggested:—

(a) Cardboard protractor to read 180° .

3. The pupils should also be given practice in drawing out and constructing models involving surfaces curved in one direction, such as:—

Cylinder with closed ends, cone, flower-pot, box with curved top, cylindrical pencil case, bath, curved photograph or picture frame, water-bucket, flower vases.

This work may be elaborated to include models having curved surfaces meeting in mitred edges such as fancy boxes and vases.

4. The manual instructor should vary or supplement the above suggested models by models of all sorts of simple school-room and domestic articles and utensils.

CLASS V.

1. In the two previous years the pupils will have mastered the drawing and construction of models involving plane surfaces with various shapes of perimeter, and models involving curved surfaces in one plane. In this class, he should now proceed to construct models involving combinations of the above. This year's course should also include a number of working models.

2. The following models are suggested:—

Folding camp stool and folding deck chair with any suitable cotton material for seats and pins for hinges; hand lanterns of different shapes; house with steps; plinth verandahs; doors; windows and roof; simple brick or masonry railway bridge; a sun-dial properly graduated; palki; country-boat with sculling oar; agricultural plough.

3. The following working models are suggested:—

Weighing scales; see-saw; swing; wheelbarrow; gharry; motor-car; railway truck; pull-punkah; windmill; railway signal; child's perambulator.

CLASS VI.

1. Cardboard modelling involving the use of other materials than cardboard, such as wood, sticks, wire, string and pins may be introduced.

2. The following models are suggested:

Folding household steps; bed with plank top and mosquito poles; rocking chair.

Cycle; railway locomotive; country-boat with sails; paddle steam-boat; working crane with pulley blocks; wheel and axle for raising water buckets from a well; bullock cart; oil pressing mill; sugarcane crushing mill; surki mill.

4. The pupils might collectively construct all the models comprising a railway station including railway sleepers and rails, signals, platforms, booking and station offices, gates, bridges, locomotives and rolling stock. A small part might be carried out by each pupil on a predetermined scale, and the whole finally pieced together.

The same idea might be applied to a market place, village street, etc.

CLASS VII.

1. The syllabus for this year should be chiefly concerned with wood strip work and should have a bias towards carpentry so as to be introductory to the carpentry courses of the following three years.

2. Models should, however, be constructed involving a use of all the materials of construction used in the preceding years. Any other suitable and available materials may also be pressed into use such as wood; thin turned metal sheets which can be cut and manipulated almost as easily as cardboard and joined at the edges by folded seams; and sheet glass which can be easily cut and used for windows. Portland cement and sand may be used in the walls of model houses, bridges, etc.

3. The following models are suggested:—

Letters of the alphabet with straight limbs only, post and rail wooden fences, wooden gates, various wooden roof trusses of the well-known types, lattice girder bridge, wooden photograph frame, wooden picture frame; models of buildings such as cowsheds, cookhouse, bungalow; masonry or brick bridges.

4. Corrugated iron sheds or godowns should also be made, and brick and mud used for the internal part of masonry.

5. Iron rails and standards should be made from the wire and corrugated iron out of the tinned sheet; doors, wooden frames and woodwork out of the wood strips; and the sheet glass cut to size and used in the windows.

Thatched roofs can be made from dried grass or cocoanut fibre.

6. In cutting, fitting, joining and nailing the woodwork, the pupil should be shown how to use the tenon saw and sawing block, straight edge, marking knife, measuring rule, hammer, nails and trysquare; and how to finish smooth with glass paper.

CLASS VIII.

Woodwork.

1. Preliminary drawing lessons showing the proper use of the drawing board, teesquare, setsquares, scales, compass, pencils, papers and drawing-pins. In each lesson there should be a definite connection between the drawing demonstration and benchwork.

2. The drawing should be confined to plans, side views, sections and isometric projections; and the drawing course should be so arranged as to develop these in order of difficulty. The pupil should be taught to use only the minimum number of views necessary (e.g., an article may possibly be completely represented by a dimensioned isometric projection only).

3. The use of the following should be demonstrated:—

Pupils should not be allowed to sharpen their own tools in this course.

4. The making of definite models or woodwork articles should not be attempted by pupils until they have become familiar with the use of the above tools. They should be given simple wooden test pieces about 12 to 15 inches long, and an inch or two in cross sectional dimensions. These pieces should always be a little longer than the dimensions intended for the finished piece and should be rough sawn only.

5. The execution of the test pieces should involve the following operations:—

Sawing and marking by pencil and square or by gauge; planing, trying, squaring, smoothing, levelling and grooving; making such carpentry joints as mortice and tenon.

6. Towards the end of the year, the pupils may be allowed to make a few simple woodwork articles, such as simple bracket, soap-box, match-box stand, toothbrush rack, inkpot, stand, simple picture-frame, wooden rulers, and pointers.

CLASS IX.

1. The use of the few remaining carpenters' tools should be learnt, and the test pieces should consist of simple woodwork articles. The pupils should work from dimensioned drawings supplied to them. They should also be required to measure a few woodwork articles, draw their measurements to scale, and make reproductions of them.

2. The chief remaining carpenters' tools are as follows:—

Shooting board, wing compass, spokeshave, wood files and rasps, brace and bits, cramps, gauges, bow saw and rabbit plane, dovetail saw, nail punch, mortice chisels, holdfasts, grindstone, water and oil stones.

3. The test pieces or models should also include the operations of glueing and pinning joints, the use of wire and screw nails, counter-sinking, panelling and cutting out designs with fret or bow saw, chamfering, beading and grooving.

4. The pupils should be shown how to grind and sharpen their tools, and keep them in order.

5. The following models or articles are suggested as test pieces:—

Book-shelf, corner bracket, footstool, boxes of various kinds, camp stool, deck chair, small tables of various kinds, flower-pot stand, wooden tray, hanging shelves, wall plaques, drawing board, teesquare, stationery case, curtain brackets and rods, water-pot stand.

CLASS X.

1. The pupils will continue to make woodwork articles, and they should be of a more advanced nature. They will also learn how to embellish, finish and polish them.

2. The embellishment of woodwork articles by bevelling and chamfering, beading, grooving, simple carving, panelling and piercing, glass papering and French polishing may be attempted in a simple way.

3. The following test pieces or models are suggested:—

Folding table, simple chair, fancy picture-frame, small medicine chest, nest of drawers for stationery or other purposes, cycle stand, hanging towel rail, fern box, wheelbarrow, wash-basin stand, wooden cradle.

4. Any apparatus that would be useful in the school should also be constructed. Such apparatus should include school rulers, pointers, drawing boards, gymnasium and drill apparatus such as bar bells, Indian clubs, horizontal bar, parallel bars, ladder and vaulting horse.

5. Simple examples of wood turning may also be executed by using the ordinary frame and bowstring arrangement as used in the bazars.

REVENUE ACCOUNT.

RECEIPTS.—The total receipts for the year are Rs. 47·24 lakhs against a Budget Estimate of Rs. 41·41 lakhs. The increase is due mainly to the receipts from Terminal Tax, Duty on Jute, Municipal Contribution and Rebate of Interest on Debenture Loans exceeding the annual Budget Estimate.

EXPENDITURE.—The expenditure for the year was Rs. 28·36 lakhs against a Budget Provision of Rs. 30·73 lakhs. The decrease of Rs. 1·37 lakhs is due to savings against the provision for expenditure on Debenture Loans, Establishment, Stamp Duty, etc.

The closing balance on Revenue Account shows a surplus of Rs. 3,43,33,116-6-6 of which a sum of Rs. 2,58,47,296-11-9 has been spent on Capital Account to meet payments in excess of Capital Receipts. The net balance of Rs. 84,85,819-10-9 was held as follows :—

Appointment.

CALCUTTA, THE 10TH DECEMBER 1928.

RESOLUTION—No. 13689A.

READ—

Resolution of this Government, No. 1646 A. D., dated the 21st June 1920.

Letter No. 426 A. D., dated the 16th June 1922, to the Secretary, Superior Civil Service Association.

Letter No. 1686-1670 A. D., dated the 15th September 1925, to all Commissioners of Divisions.

Letter No. 1026-1030 A. D., dated the 31st May 1926, to all Commissioners of Divisions.

Letter No. 1422 A. D., dated the 7th September 1926, to the Honorary Secretary, Bengal Junior Civil Service Association.

Letter No. 4617-4621 A, dated the 10th April 1926, to all Commissioners of Divisions.

On the 3rd November 1927, a deputation of the Bengal Junior Civil Service Association waited on the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Appointment Department and the Chief Secretary to Government and explained the grievances of the service in respect of their pay, prospects, and status. In particular, they asked that—

(1) the Bengal Junior Civil Service should be amalgamated with the Bengal Civil Service (Executive);

(2) Sub-Deputy Magistrates and Collectors should be eligible for the grant of higher magisterial and revenue powers;

(3) members of the Bengal Junior Civil Service should be called Additional Deputy Collectors instead of Sub-Deputy Collectors;

(4) a revised scale of pay should be introduced substituting a biennial increment of Rs. 20 for the present triennial increment of Rs. 25, with a selection grade on Rs. 650 for six per cent. of the total service;

(5) the prescribed age-limit of 40 for promotions from the Bengal Junior Civil Service to the Bengal Civil Service (Executive) should be removed;

(6) the percentage of appointment made to the Bengal Civil Service (Executive) by promotions from the Bengal Junior Civil Service should be raised from 35 per cent. to 75 per cent;

(7) increased pony allowances should be granted to members of the service on training in settlement;

(8) the amount of rewards payable to the members of the service for passing examinations in certain tribal languages should be raised;

(9) house and travelling allowances of circle officers should be increased, and that general permission should be granted to them to reside at the headquarters of districts and subdivisions.

2. Items (1) and (2) above received the careful consideration of the Governor in Council in 1920 and 1926, and in this Government Resolution No. 1646 A.D., dated the 21st June 1920, and circular letter to the Commissioners of Divisions, No. 1026-1030 A.D., dated the 31st May 1926, it was announced that, for the reasons given therein, the two services, namely the Bengal Civil Service (Executive) and the Bengal Junior Civil Service, would be kept distinct from each other and that Sub-Deputy Magistrates and Collectors would not be vested with higher magisterial and revenue powers. The deputation was informed that these decisions were final and that Government were not prepared to reopen the question.

As regards item (3) the deputation was informed that if the Association could invent another name which was not open to objection, Government would consider it. The Association has not, however, offered any further suggestion. As regards the other items the Association was informed that they would be examined and that the decisions arrived at would be announced later. Government have now investigated these matters and their decisions are stated below.

Item (4).—The Governor in Council is not prepared to entertain the proposal for a revision of the scale of pay, as the present scale does not compare unfavourably with the scales of other provinces, and the proposed substitution of a biennial for the existing triennial increment would involve large additional expenditure which in the present state of the provincial finances would not be justified.

Item (5).—Government have decided that the age-bar for promotion to the Bengal Civil Service (Executive) shall be relaxed, but no officer who has not been recommended for promotion before he is 40 years of age will have his claims considered after he has attained that age. A letter dealing with this point and prescribing a new procedure for the submission of recommendations for promotion will shortly issue to all concerned.

Item (6).—Government are not prepared to entertain the proposal of the Association that the percentage of appointments made to the Bengal Civil Service (Executive) by promotions from the Bengal Junior Civil Service should be raised from 35 per cent. to 75 per cent., but have decided that it shall be increased from 35 per cent. to 50 per cent.

Item (7).—Government have decided that the pony allowances of members of the Bengal Junior Civil Service, while on settlement training, shall be the same as those allowed to members of the Bengal Civil Service (Executive), and rule 165 (a) of the Survey and Settlement Manual will be amended to make this clear.

Item (8).—The suggestion for increasing the rewards admissible on passing certain tribal language examinations has already been accepted and given effect to in Government notification No. 199A., dated the 10th January 1928.

Item (9).—Government do not consider that there are any grounds for increasing the travelling, or house allowances of Sub-Deputy Collectors employed on circle work, and the existing rates will therefore stand. The existing orders regarding the residence of Circle Officers within their respective circles will also stand.

ORDER.—Ordered that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

Ordered also that copies of the resolutions be forwarded to the Local Self-Government and the Revenue Departments of this Government and to the Bengal Junior Civil Service Association for information.

By order of the Governor in Council,

W. D. R. PRENTICE,

Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, -BENGAL.Third Forecast of the Cotton Crops of Bengal, 1928-29.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1926-27, the area under the cotton crops in Bengal has represented some 0.2 per cent. of the total area under cotton in India.)

There are two crops—early and late. The “early” crop is chiefly grown in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and in the Tripura State, and to a small extent also in other districts. The “late” crop is chiefly grown in Bankura and Midnapore.

Character of the season.—As reported in the second forecast, the early crop suffered from drought in the beginning and from excessive rainfall in the Tripura State and in parts of Midnapore during the early period of growth. Subsequent weather conditions were generally favourable and a fairly satisfactory crop has been reaped for the province.

The prospects of the late variety, so far, are promising.

Area sown.—The total area sown with early cotton is returned at 77,381 acres, and that with late at 753 acres, against 76,773 acres and 803 acres, respectively, in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Outturn.—The outturn of the early crop is estimated at 20,450 bales and the late crop at 117 bales, against 19,757 bales and 90 bales, respectively, in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIES AND LABOUR.

RESOLUTION.

New Delhi, the 28th November 1928.

No. S.465.—In their Resolution No. S.-217, dated the 13th September 1928, which was published in Part I of the Gazette of India of the 15th September 1928, the Government of India announced their decision to replace the existing arrangements for the supply of articles required for the public service by a system of rupee tenders for delivery in India, and published for criticism the draft rules which had been framed to give effect to that policy.

2. For the successful working of the Rupee Tender System it is necessary to provide expert advice in the matter of the preparation of technical projects, specifications and drawings and of the examination of tenders for technical stores, and also to establish an organisation which will enable purchasing authorities to ascertain the status and capacities of tendering firms abroad.

3. The Government of India consider that Messrs. Rendel, Palmer and Tritton, who have for the past fifty years been employed as Consulting Engineers to the India Office and latterly to the High Commissioner for India in respect of numerous classes of stores, will be in the best position to afford the necessary service, and they have accordingly arranged with that firm for the establishment of a branch office in India.

4. This office will be opened on or about the 1st December 1928 and will be located in the Tower House Building, Esplanade East, Calcutta. Its functions will comprise the following, among other services:—

I. Supplies of technical stores.

(a) When required, to prepare specifications and drawings needed for certain classes of stores, or to furnish technical advice on specifications, etc., prepared by the authorities concerned.

(b) To advise on technical points in connection with the purchase of stores generally and in particular to advise, if and when required, on tenders received for supply of technical stores.

(c) To advise in regard to the capacity and standing of manufacturing firms abroad.

II. Engineering Projects.

To advise in connection with the preparation and examination of technical projects, such as bridge designs, workshop layouts, and engineering schemes generally.

III. Standardisation.

To advise on the standardisation of technical stores.

IV. General.

To act as a liaison office between the Head Office of the Consulting Engineers in London and the Departments in India utilising their services.

5. These services will not be limited to matters affecting the Central Government and the minor local Governments only, but will extend to matters concerning the major local Governments, quasi-public bodies and Indian States, provided that they are referred to the Consulting Engineers through a Department of the Central Government. This arrangement will, however, not interfere in any way with arrangements which have already been concluded between Messrs. Rendel, Palmer and Tritton and any of the latter authorities.

6. In return for the services, the firm will receive payment from Government of sums representing the annual estimated cost of operating the branch office. This arrangement, which will cover a period of three years in the first instance, will, the Government of India believe, prove of valuable assistance in the efficient operation of the new system of purchase.

7. The branch of the Consulting Engineers will be attached to the Indian Stores Department and its relations to the latter will be similar to those of the firm in England to the India Store Department, London; but Departments of the Central Government which are authorized to utilise its services will have free access to it.

8. Charges, according to a scale which will be drawn up and published, will be made to the various authorities for the services rendered by the Consulting Engineers on their behalf.

9. A procedure to regulate references to the firms will be drawn up by the Indian Stores Department in consultation with Messrs. Rendel, Palmer and Tritton and will be communicated to all authorities concerned in due course.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 3145L., dated Calcutta, the 12th December, 1928.—The following report of the Select Committee on the Indian Universities (Bengal Amendment) Bill, 1928, with the Bill as amended by the Committee, is hereby published for general information:—

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE INDIAN UNIVERSITIES (BENGAL AMENDMENT) BILL, 1928.

We, the undersigned members of the Select Committee, to which the Calcutta University Bill, 1927, by Dr. Pramathanath Banerjea, was referred, have considered the provisions of the Bill and the following papers relative thereto:—

Papers Nos. 1 to 11 and letter No. L—12—28, dated the 11th August, 1928, from the Secretary, Indian Chamber of Commerce, relating to the Bill.

We also considered the Calcutta University Bill of Babu Manmatha Nath Roy.

2. We have the honour to submit this our Report with the Bill as amended by us annexed hereto. In reprinting the Bill, all changes made by us have, so far as possible, been underlined.

3. Before proceeding with the examination of the Bill in detail, we discussed the question of the practical utility of bringing such a measure into operation at present, in view of the far more comprehensive Bill contemplated by the Government for the reorganisation of the University. As it will be a considerable time before the proposed Government Bill can be placed before the Council, the majority of us consider that the Bill may be usefully proceeded with in order to reconstruct the Senate on more democratic lines as soon as possible.

4. Long title, preamble and short title.—The necessary formal alterations have been made to indicate that the Bill amends the Indian Universities Act, 1904, so far as it applies to the University of Calcutta. Assam has not been mentioned anywhere in the Bill, the reason being the necessity of avoiding any legal difficulty which might otherwise present itself. We have not, however, been unmindful of the interests of Assam as will appear from our observations in regard to clause 7 of the Bill.

Clause 1 (2).—The extent clause has been omitted on account of the legal difficulty in regard to Assam, and also because a certain portion of Bengal is within the jurisdiction of the Dacca University.

Clause 1 (3).—The date for the coming into operation of the proposed Act has been changed to the 1st January, 1929, in order that elections may be held and nominations made under the Act as early in the year as possible.

Clause 2 has been omitted as being unnecessary in view of the formal changes made.

Clause 3, which indicates generally the various classes of electorates, has been revised in accordance with our decisions in this respect, the details of which are embodied in our revised clause 7.

In the electorate of teachers appointed by the University [which has been substituted for the Professors and Lecturers in clause 3 (v) of the Bill] we consider that honorary teachers may suitably be given the power of election, and the words "and paid" have therefore been omitted.

The provision in clause 3 (viii) of the Bill in regard to the representation of the municipalities and district boards has been omitted, as we do not consider such representation to be justified. Members of these bodies have no special qualifications justifying their election as Fellows, nor do these bodies contribute towards the upkeep of the University.

As regards the proposal in Babu Manmatha Nath Roy's Bill that there should be an electorate of benefactors and donors, we are of opinion that the present practice of appointing benefactors of the University as Honorary Fellows is appropriate and should be continued. If necessary, suitable persons among them may be nominated also as Ordinary Fellows.

Electorates of Head Masters and of Head Mistresses of high schools have been substituted for that of graduate teachers in such schools. We recommend that it be provided in any subsequent legislation on the subject that the electorates from high schools should cease to function immediately the proposed Board of Secondary Education comes into operation. Governing bodies of Colleges, Chambers of Commerce, Literary Associations, and the ex-officio, elected and nominated Fellows have been added to the electorates mentioned in the Bill.

Clause 4.—A necessary formal alteration has been made in this clause.

Clause 4 A.—Sub-clauses (1) and (2) contain formal alterations.

In sub-clause (3) the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 5 has been added for the purposes of the proposed alternate ex-officio representation of the Principals of the Colleges mentioned in clause 14.

Clause 5.—In place of sub-section (2) of section 5 (including the proviso) a new provision has been made to enable the Senate, with the approval of the Government, to make necessary changes in the list of ex-officio Fellows in Parts I and II of the Schedule.

Clause 6 contains a necessary formal amendment.

Clause 7.—The proposed sub-section (1a) in section 6 of the Act shows in detail the persons who are to form the various electorates recommended by us. We recommend that of the proposed one hundred and eleven Ordinary Fellows eighty-one should be elected and thirty nominated by the Chancellor. The details in sub-section (1a) are self-explanatory. We have increased the number of nominated members from twenty to thirty because, in our opinion, such increase will enable the Chancellor to supply deficiencies which may impede the proper formation of the different Faculties and to secure the representation of the various educational interests to an adequate extent. This will also enable at least five Fellows to be nominated from Assam in addition to the two ex-officio Fellows mentioned in the present schedule. The majority of us also hope that a sufficient number of Muhammadans will be nominated by the Chancellor so that the total number of Muhammadan members on the Senate, including elected and ex-officio members, may be thirty.

In the proposed sub-section (1aa) in section 6, to which the majority of us agreed, it has been provided that the reservation of seats for Muhammadans shall terminate at the end of ten years from the date of the reconstitution of the Senate under this Bill.

Clause 8.—Clauses 9, 10 and 11 of the Bill have also been dealt with together in this clause. In section 7 (2), in the proviso to section 7 (2) and in section 7 (3) the initial fee in respect of the registering of graduates as well as the annual fee has been fixed at "five rupees" instead of "two rupees" as suggested in the Bill. In the proviso to section 7 (3) the sum of "fifty rupees" suggested in the Bill has been retained.

Clause 12.—The changes made in this clause are merely formal consequential changes.

Clause 12 A contains two new sections 11A and 11B relating to casual vacancies and certain transitory provisions providing for the continuance in office of nominated or elected Fellows until the new nominations and elections take effect.

Clause 13 shows the omissions from, and the additions to, the list of ex-officio offices in the first Schedule proposed by us.

The Chief Justice of the High Court, the Lord Bishop of Calcutta, and the Member of the Council of the Governor-General in charge of the Department of Education so rarely attend the meetings of the Senate that it is not considered of any practical utility to retain these offices on the list of ex-officio Fellows. As regards the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Department of Education, it does not seem to be necessary to retain this office on the list as the Member or Minister in charge of the Department of Education, Bengal, is an ex-officio Fellow.

Ex-Vice-Chancellors resident in India have been included as permanent ex-officio Fellows.

The Principal of the Presidency College, Calcutta, is now included in the list of ex-officio Fellows in Part II of the Schedule who are to hold office alternately.

As regards the inclusion of Principals in Part II of the Schedule we do not consider it wise to leave the appointment of eminent Principals to the vagaries of election.

When the Board of Secondary Education and the Board of Madrasah Education are established, we recommend that the Presidents of these two Boards be made ex-officio Fellows.

For convenience of reference it may be noted that the list of persons who will be permanently ex-officio Fellows under our proposed reconstitution of the Senate will be as follows:--

His Excellency the Governor of Assam.

The Member of the Executive Council of the Governor of Bengal, or the Minister appointed by the Governor to be, in charge of the Department of Education.

Every ex-Vice-Chancellor resident in India

The Minister for Education, Assam.

The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

The Director of Public Instruction, Assam.

The Mayor of the Corporation of Calcutta.

The Principal of the Calcutta Madrasah.

The Principal of the Bengal Engineering College, Sibpur.

The Principal of the Bethune College.

The Principal of the David Hare Training College.

The Principal of the Islamia College.

Clause 14 contains a list of the colleges the Principals of which are to be ex-officio Fellows alternately—see the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 5 in sub-clause (3) of clause 4A.

It is not considered necessary that the Principals of these colleges should always be ex-officio Fellows, but the opportunity will be given to them in turn to present their views to the Senate.

5. The Bill was published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 29th December, 1927.

6. We do not consider that the Bill has been so altered as to require re-publication.

7. We recommend that the Bill, as amended by us, be passed.

Joint note of dissent by the Hon'ble Nawab Musharruf Hossain, Khan Bahadur, and Messrs. A. J. Dash and H. E. Stapleton and Dr. W. A. Jenkins.

We do not consider that the Bill as amended by the Select Committee should be passed by the Legislative Council and hold this opinion for the following reasons:—

1. Procedure.—The Bill has been so altered in Select Committee that we feel that it should be again published. In particular copies should be forwarded to the University of Calcutta and the Government of Assam and their opinions carefully studied before the Council proceed to take the Bill into consideration.

Consultation with the Government of Assam in our opinion seems particularly necessary. While the Bengal Legislative Council has full power to legislate for the Calcutta University, it must be remembered that Assam desires to have its educational interests adequately represented on the governing bodies of the University and any alteration in the constitution of the University must necessarily affect Assam. Consequently we hold that before legislation in Bengal is undertaken, it is only appropriate that Assam should be fully consulted, and every consideration given to the opinions expressed by the Government of Assam. This has not been done in the present case.

2. We object to this Bill coming before the Legislative Council now, because Government proposals for reconstituting the whole structure of University Government will shortly be published. The passing of the present Bill into law will seriously prejudice the prospect of carrying through the legislation which will be required to effect the very necessary reorganisation of the University. We see no force in arguments to the contrary, as it can hardly be expected that a Senate constituted under the present Bill would acquiesce in a revision of their powers and functions.

The constitution under the present Bill is not in any way a suitable basis for a more comprehensive scheme of reform.

3. Our main objection to the present Bill is that it is an unsatisfactory compromise between conflicting interests. In particular we dislike the sacrifice of academic to other interests inevitable when academic jurisdiction is vested in a body constituted for the exercise of general powers. We are fully alive to the necessity of increasing Musalman influence in the University and believe that when a readjustment takes place amongst the different authorities which may be created, of the powers now exercised by the Senate, it will be possible to provide adequate scope for all interests without in any way sacrificing academic interests. But such a result is necessarily unattainable with an elective Senate exercising the powers now held by that body.

Note of dissent by Babu Jogindra Chandra Chakravarti, M. L. C.

1. I am not in favour of reservation of seats for Muhammadans as recommended in sub-section (1a) in clause 7. Representation on the Senate on a communal basis seems to me to be objectionable on principle.

2. I do not agree that the initial fee in respect of the registering of graduates or the annual fee should be five rupees. I would retain two rupees as the initial fee as well as the annual fee as in the Bill.

With these observations, I sign the report.

Note of dissent by Babu Jitendralal Bannerjee, M. L. C.

I have two serious objections of principle to the Bill [The Indian Universities (Bengal Amendment) Bill] as it has been modified by the Select Committee: first, the qualified recognition that has been extended to the principle of communal representation in the election of fellows; and secondly the number and variety of small, pocket constituencies which the Bill seeks to create, and where the field of selection is further narrowed by the ear-marking of a specified number of seat for the graduates in the different faculties.

2. So far as the second is concerned, let me point out some of the anomalies that are sure to result from the adoption of the scheme recommended by the Select Committee:—

- (1) The Select Committee recommend that, out of the total number of elected fellows, 12 shall be elected (from among themselves) by the teachers appointed by the University and 15 by the teachers in affiliated colleges. The injustice of this unequal distribution is patent on the face of it. The University teachers form a small and compact body, numbering not more than 150, while the college teachers scattered all over Bengal, number at least 1,000; and yet these 1,000 teachers will return practically the same number of fellows as the 150 University teachers. The college teachers are men possessing the same qualifications, and, in the existing state of things, doing practically the same kind of work as the University teachers; and yet the latter are accorded a representation more than five times in excess of the representation granted to the former. I can see no justice behind the arrangement, and no reason for it beyond the desire—so obvious in some quarters of controlling the Senate by the members of the post-graduate department.

3. Again, just as the representation accorded to the post-graduate department is in excess of its fair share, equally noticeable is the excessive representation granted to the graduates in the medical faculty. Leaving aside the Faculty of Engineering, the number of graduates in the medical faculty is the fewest in any of the faculties, certainly fewer than the number of graduates in the Faculty of Law and far, far fewer than the number of graduates in Arts. And yet, where election upon a faculty basis is concerned, the number of representatives allotted to the medical graduates is in excess of the numbers allotted to the Law and Arts graduates. Thus of the 23 fellows to be elected on the faculty basis (12 from the registered graduates of the Calcutta constituency and 11 from the teachers in affiliated colleges), so many as 6 are required to be medical graduates while Arts graduates are 5 and the Law graduates only 4.

4. Again, there is no justification why two seats or any should be allotted to the members of the Bengal Legislative Council, except that the generous members of the Select Committee may have thought it necessary to provide seats for certain gentlemen who might otherwise find none. In this connection one should like to know whether the British Parliament as such has the privilege of electing any representative to the Senate or governing body of any of the British universities.

5. And just as there is no reason why any seat should be assigned to the Bengal Legislative Council, so there is no reason why any seat should be assigned to the different Chambers of Commerce. The Bengal Chamber of Commerce (which is the most influential of these bodies) does not seem to be at all keen upon this point; and on principle there is no reason why the commercial (of all interests) should be singled out for special representation on the Senate. In fact the only intelligible motive behind this infinite splitting up of constituencies seems to be a very natural and understandable desire to provide a constituency for every one who is anxious to have a seat on the Senate.

6. On a point of detail, I hold that an injustice has been done to the mufassal in the distribution of the representatives of registered graduates as between Calcutta and mufassal. Instead of allotting 15 to Calcutta and 10 to the mufassal, the proportion should have been just the reverse—10 to Calcutta and 15 to the 5 mufassal divisions.

Speaking for myself, I should like to have two broad, general constituencies one, Academic, and one, non-Academic for the election of fellows to the Senate. The first should consist wholly of teachers (college and University teachers both) and furnish the academic wing of the Senate while the second should consist of (a) registered graduates, (b) members of the Legislative Council, (c) members of municipalities and district boards, (d) school teachers of a recognised status, say, five years' standing or so, and (e) members of the governing bodies of colleges. This second wing of the Senate would, broadly speaking, represent the guardians and tax-payers of the country—a body which, I hold, is fully entitled to have an effective voice in the deliberations of the Senate. It may be objected against this second body that it will be too cumbrous and unwieldy. But that difficulty can be easily avoided by having the election from this body upon a regional or divisional basis—Calcutta ranking as a division, and the number of seats allotted to each division being in proportion to the numerical strength of the electorate in that division. I would further suggest that all elections from this constituency may be under the system of proportional representation by the single transferable vote. This, by allowing Muhammadan electors to plump their votes upon Muhammadan candidates, would secure an adequate Muhammadan element in the Senate.

As for election upon a communal basis, I regard it as an unmitigated evil—evil everywhere, and specially and glaringly so in an academic and educational body like the Senate. It is a matter of infinite regret that our Muhammadan brothers should be so keen upon the point. I can well sympathise with their desire for an “adequate and effective” Muhammadan representation upon the Senate. But I submit that the same end could be equally well served by adopting the method of "proportional election by the single transferable vote" so far as elections on a regional basis are concerned.

Subject to the above observations, I have pleasure in signing the report of the Select Committee.

Note of dissent by Dr. Bidhan Chandra Roy, M. L. C.

I sign this report subject to the following note of dissent:—

2. On behalf of the Congress party to which I belong I enter my emphatic protest against any acceptance of the principle of communal representation in University matters, where proficiency in one of the branches of knowledge should be the only qualification for admission. No University in India except Dacca has accepted this principle in spite of the findings of the Sadler Commission. I am free to admit that if communal protection is to be guaranteed in any association, it is best that the members from the community should be elected by a joint electorate rather than nominated by the Government. From that point of view it is satisfactory that the period during which reservation of seats will be guaranteed is limited to nine years from the date of the passing of the Bill.

3. While the whole department of education is supposed to have been transferred to a popular minister, nomination to the University Senate, if any, should be made by a Chancellor who has nothing to do with the administration of any of the departments of Government.

4. The mere alteration in the composition of the Senate will not, to my mind, reform the University, but in future a comprehensive Bill affecting the University which the Government might bring forward should and ought to be considered not by a Senate as at present constituted but by one whose composition is more democratic. It is in that view that I support this Bill.

Note of dissent by Mr. F. E. James, M. L. C.

I sign the above report subject to the view which I expressed more than once in Select Committee, viz., that the Senate as constituted by this Bill will be too unwieldy for a body which at present is charged with so much executive and administrative work. I do not consider that the total number of the Senate should exceed 100, though I admit the difficulty of satisfying within this figure the claims of all the academic, sectional, professional, communal, official and non-official interests, which were, at times, pressed to the detriment of the main structure of the Bill.

We sign the report subject to the following note of dissent:—

In our opinion, communal representation on the governing body of an educational institution like the Calcutta University is unsound in principle. We admit that the reservation of seats for a community is open to less serious objection than a scheme of separate electorates, and the suggestion of the Select Committee that the reservation will terminate at the end of ten years is a sincere attempt to limit the duration of the evil. But as we are convinced that it is undesirable to make religion a basis for the constitution of the Senate, we are unable to assent to the proposals contained in section 7 of the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, for the representation of Muhammadans.

Note of dissent by Babu Bejoy Krishna Bose, M.L.C.

I am strongly opposed to communal representation in any form as retarding the growth of the nation. Such a representation by reservation of seats even for a limited period in the field of Education is vicious in principle, and I beg to dissent from the report so far as that aspect of it is concerned. Educated Indians should be left to make their free choice unhampered by any consideration other than academic qualifications.

Though I do not quite agree on some other minor points, I do not wish to write a separate note on them but reserve my observations.

Note of dissent by Maulvi Abul Kasem, M.L.C.

I am of opinion that there should be 125 ordinary fellows, of whom 90 should be elected and 35 nominated by His Excellency the Chancellor.

2. The Chief Justice of the Calcutta High Court and the Principals of the Presidency and Sanskrit Colleges should be permanently ex officio fellows.

The Chief Justice of the Calcutta High Court is the head of the Judiciary in Bengal, and as such should have a permanent place on the Senate of the University.

The Presidency College is the premier College of Bengal and the Principal of that College should always be a member of the Senate. The Sanskrit College is not an ordinary first grade College, but an institution which along with other subjects provides special facilities for the study and research of an important Oriental classical language and philosophy, and the Principal of that College is always wanted in the Senate. The idea of the majority was that these two Principals would be nominated by the Chancellor, but in my opinion the Chancellor's nominations should be used for the purpose mentioned in clause 7 of our Report and not for rectifying defective legislation.

3. In clause 7 of the Bill, sub-section (1a) of section 6, in the list of electorates the following should be added, each electing 1 ordinary fellow:—

(1) Muhammadan Literary Society of Calcutta.

(2) Bangiya Muslim Shahitya Parishad.

4. In clause 7, clause (2) (a) of sub-section (1a) of section 6, at least 2 shall be Muslims. In clause (4) of sub-section (1a) of section 6 the number should be 8, of whom at least 4 shall be Muslims and the electorate shall include assistant headmasters as well. In clause (6) of sub-section (1a) of section 6 the number should be 7, of whom at least 3 shall be Muslims.

In clause (7) of sub-section (1a) of section 6 of the 2 members to be elected by the Legislative Council, one shall be a Muslim.

In clause (13) of sub-section (1a) of section 6 the number should be 12, of whom 4 shall be Muslims.

5. The managing committees of high schools affiliated to the University should elect 2 ordinary fellows, each managing committee having one vote.

6. In clause 7, sub-section (1aa) should be omitted. I would hope that a sufficient number of Muslims will be nominated by the Chancellor, so that the total number of Muslim members on the Senate, including elected and ex officio members, may be 40 per cent. of the ordinary fellows.

7. I would further suggest that provision should be made in the Statute or the Rules wherever convenient by which a certain proportion of the ordinary fellows should vacate their offices every year and their places filled up by nomination or election as the case may be, so that there may not be an entire change in the personnel of the Senate at one time.

Note of dissent by Mr. S. C. Bose, M.L.C.

There are just a few matters in the above report, in regard to which I hold somewhat different views, and I am afraid, therefore, I must express my dissent.

Clause 3.—As regards (e) (iv) of clause 3, I am of opinion that the electorate should not be restricted to head masters and to head mistresses of high schools, but should be extended to graduate teachers of such schools.

Clause 7.—I am of opinion that—

(1) instead of the provision in sub-section (1a) that “the number of ordinary fellows shall not exceed one hundred and eleven,” the provision that “the number of ordinary fellows shall not exceed one hundred and twenty” should be substituted,

(2) that instead of the provision in sub-section (1a) (4) that “six shall be elected from their own number by head masters in high schools,” the provision that “fifteen shall be elected from their own number by graduate teachers of high schools” should be substituted; and

(3) in the place of the expression “Head mistresses” in sub-section (1a) (5) the expression “graduate teachers” should be substituted.

It is not possible for me to reconcile myself to the principle (if it can be called one) of reservation of seats for any particular community in the constitution of a University. But for reasons into which it is unnecessary for me to enter here, I shall refrain from striking a wholly discordant note. I shall only support that in the proposed sub-section (1aa) in the place of the expression “ten years,” the expression “five years” be substituted.

Note of Dissent by Mr. A. K. Fazl-ul Huq, M.L.C.

I strongly oppose the insertion of sub-section (Iaa) in clause 7, recommending the termination of the provisions for the reservation of seats for Muhammadans automatically at the end of ten years. In my opinion, the provision for reservation of seats for Muhammadans should not be taken away until and unless the Muhammadan community make it clearly manifest that these provisions are no longer wanted.

I am also of opinion that the provisions for the representation of Muhammadans are extremely inadequate and should be at least double of what has been provided in the Bill. Further, it should be made clear that the figures suggested for Muhammadan representation are to be the minimum and that it should be open to Muhammadans to participate in the election of the members other than those representing the Muhammadan community.

Note of Dissent by Babu Manmathanath Roy, M.L.C.

I regret I have to differ from my Colleagues in the following respects :—

(i) The alternate ex-officio representation of Principals of Colleges is wrong on principle. It is a most mechanical method wholly unsuited to the constitution of the Senate. The Principals of Colleges should form a separate electorate which will elect, say, eighteen Fellows (the same number as is proposed in the amended Bill). The Principals should have the right to select those amongst them who are most suited to represent them. Any apprehension of the vagaries of election is unfounded, is inconsistent with the policy of the Bill and would be an unfair and unmerited reflection on the whole body of Principals. The electorate would be a very small one which would return half its number and there need be no apprehension that the most eminent among them will be left out. The Principals may certainly be trusted with the franchise which has been given to the other electorates.

(ii) The District Boards and the Municipalities should be given the right of representation. It would be wrong to ignore the general public interested in education. The Bill aims at the democratic ideal needed to raise the University to a great national institution, thoroughly representative of public opinion in the country.

(iii) The fee for registered graduates should be two rupees, as originally proposed in the Bill. The amount of fee should not deter graduates from exercising their right of representation.

(iv) It would not be fair to the graduate teachers in high schools to restrict the franchise to the head masters. The graduate teachers in schools form an important body by themselves whose interests are not always identical with the interests of the head masters, and in constituting the Senate, it would be wrong to ignore the interests of the graduate teachers other than the head master.

(v) The number of nominated members should not exceed twenty-five. After the various electorates have made their choice to secure the representation of the different interests, there will hardly be any necessity for the nomination of an unduly large number of members.

(vi) The Presidents of the Post-Graduate Councils occupy such an important position in the higher teaching in the University that they should always be ex-officio members of the Senate.

(vii) The reservation of as many as eight seats for Professors out of a total of twelve to be returned by the University teachers would be unfair to the teachers who are not Professors and who form by far the large majority in the electorate.

CALCUTTA, THE 13TH DECEMBER 1928.

RESOLUTION - No. 20043 L.R.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the Land Revenue Administration of the Presidency for the year 1927-28.

Mr. K. C. De, C.I.E., held the office of the Member, Board of Revenue, from the beginning of the year under report till the 25th January 1928, when he was succeeded by Mr. J. N. Gupta, C.I.E., M.B.E., who remained in charge of the office during the rest of the year.

2. The year was not free from natural calamities. In the Contai subdivision of the district of Midnapore the winter crop over a considerable area was destroyed by floods. Portions of the districts of Chittagong and Noakhali also suffered from severe storms. Later in the year parts of the districts of Burdwan, Birbhum, Bankura, Murshidabad, Nadia, Malda and Dinajpur suffered from deficient rainfall, resulting in failure of winter crops which has caused acute distress, particularly to the cultivating classes and the landless labourers. To meet the situation, relief operations were started by the District Boards concerned with their own funds, supplemented by advances from Government. Land improvement and agriculturists' loans amounting to Rs. 4,19,218 were also distributed according to requirements. Besides, various relief committees were organised to help the affected people. Government supplemented the resources of these bodies by allotting money for gratuitous relief. But most of these measures were undertaken in the current year 1928-29.

Barring a temporary fall in the areas affected by the failure of the winter crop, the rates of wages for labour continued generally to rule high. Landless middle class people with fixed incomes continued to suffer from high prices and dearth of employment for intellectual labour. Malaria, kala-azar, cholera and small-pox were as in previous years, prevalent in most of the districts. It is, however, a gratifying feature that there has been an awakening of the people themselves to the importance of improving the public health.

3. The depression of the coal industry continued and the condition of the iron industry became unfavourable during the year. Cotton, jute and rice mills fared well, and the year was a fairly prosperous one for tea. The weaving industry, which is the most important home industry of the Presidency, was on the whole carried on satisfactorily. During the year, the Port of Chittagong was converted into a major port and its control transferred to the Imperial Government. Motor-buses and taxis were introduced in large numbers in all the districts of the Presidency, thus facilitating communication with the interior.

There were no labour troubles except in the district of Howrah, the most important of which was the strike of the East Indian Railway Workshop employees at Lillooah which started in the beginning of March and continued after the close of the year. The number of co-operative societies in the province continued to increase and exercise an indirect influence in lowering the rate of interest charged by private moneylenders.

4. There was a fall in the demand of land revenue in the permanently-settled estates from Rs. 2,15,71,482 to Rs. 2,15,67,732; but the temporarily-settled estates and estates under direct management showed an increase of Rs. 2,28,113. Collection suffered to some extent on account of distress in several districts, and the Sale Law was administered with moderation. Only 8.65 per cent. of the defaults actually came to sale.

5. The percentage of cost of management on the current demand was 10.55 and a sum of Rs. 2,12,468, representing 3.9 per cent. of the current demand, was spent on agricultural, sanitary and miscellaneous improvements. The scheme by which Sub-Deputy Collectors in charge of certain khas mahals were replaced by settlement kanungos is reported to be working well. It is satisfactory to note that both the number of schools in Government estates and the pupils attending them are on the increase from year to year.

6. The colonization scheme in the Bakarganj Sunderbans, which covers an area of 163 square miles comprised in 22 estates, was in its 21st year and is likely to be completed within a year or two. The total expenditure incurred by Government for the reclamation of the area and the total receipts derived therefrom up to the end of the year under review were Rs. 14,53,878 and Rs. 18,72,100, respectively, resulting in a net profit of Rs. 4,18,222. The number of primary schools and pupils in the colonization area shows a steady increase, and a scheme has recently been evolved with the approval of Government to encourage primary education in the area.

The Governor in Council has noticed with regret the local officers' gloomy description of the colonists, specially of the Bengali settlers, who through indolence and improvidence are fast selling their holdings. In the Bengal Tenancy Amendment Bill, just passed by the Legislative Council, provision has been made for the extension of the protection afforded by section 49A of the present Act to such areas in the Sunderbans as may be considered necessary.

7. The colonization scheme in the 24-Parganas Sunderbans, which was in its 13th year, made fair progress during the year. In order to protect the Santhal tenants from money-lenders and middlemen, the provisions of Chapter VIIA of the Bengal Tenancy Act have been made applicable to them. Steps are also being taken for the organization of rural co-operative banks amongst them.

8. The most common causes of friction between the landlords and their tenants were, as in previous years, enhancement of rents, exacting of abwabs, levy of interest on arrear rents and mismanagement by the local agents of absentee landlords.

9. The special provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act, imposing restrictions on the alienation of land by aboriginals, were extended during the year to certain aboriginal tribes in the districts of Birbhum, Bankura, Malda, the 24-Parganas and Murshidabad.

10. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to the Board of Revenue for the efficient administration of the branches of work under it

By order of the Governor in Council,

W. H. NELSON,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Monthly Weather and Crop Report of Bengal for November 1928.

I. Character of the season.—The rainfall during the month was markedly in defect of the normal throughout the Presidency, excepting only in the districts of Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling and in the State of Cooch Behar, where it was above the average. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—Preparatory tillage for and sowings of spring crops and reaping of winter paddy were progressing under favourable conditions.

III. State of standing crops.—The condition of sugarcane and other standing crops was reported to be generally satisfactory.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—The outturn of bhadoi crops is estimated at under a cent. of the normal and that of winter paddy is expected to be about 105 per

V. Damage to standing crops.—No damage to standing crops is reported from any part of the Province except that by insect-pests in parts of the Tripura State and by hailstorm in parts of the Cooch Behar State.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—The condition of live-stock was generally fair. Stray cases of cattle-disease, however, were reported from about thirteen districts of the Province.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—The supply of fodder was reported to be sufficient throughout the Presidency except in parts of Dinajpur only.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—During the second fortnight of the month the price of common rice of the cheapest quality rose in two districts, fell in ten and remained stationary in the rest of the Presidency. It ranged from 4½ seers per rupee at Rangpur to 7½ seers per rupee at Burdwan.

IX. Condition of agricultural population.—The condition of agricultural population was, on the whole, fair except in parts of Murshidabad, Birbhum and Bankura, where distress continued to prevail owing to partial failure of the winter rice crop last year. Test relief works continued to help the people of these districts. In Birbhum the relief works were closed during the latter part of the month.

CHAS. A. BENTLEY, M.B., D.P.H., D.T.M. & H., Director of Public Health, Bengal.

CALCUTTA, the 14th December 1928.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Forecast of the Bhadoi Crops of Bengal, 1928-29.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1926-27, the area under autumn rice in Bengal has represented some 6.0 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the season.—As reported in the preliminary forecast, early sowings were slightly retarded by drought in some places, but the rainfall in April and May was generally helpful. Subsequent conditions, as a result of timely monsoon showers, were also beneficial to the growth and development of the crops, though slight damage by excessive rain was reported, especially from some West Bengal districts and from Bakarganj. The season on the whole was a favourable one.

Acreage.—The total acreage sown with the different bhadoi crops this year is reported to be 6,444,700 as against 5,833,100 acres last year. Of this, the area under autumn rice is estimated at 5,649,000 acres as against 5,072,400 acres last year. The increase in area is due to favourable weather at the time of sowing.

Outturn.—According to District Officers' estimates, the outturn of autumn rice as well as that of the different bhadoi crops together for the Presidency works out at 82 per cent. of the normal this year as against 80 per cent. last year. I am, however, of opinion that the outturn of autumn crops is an under-estimate and that the crops will not fall short of 95 per cent. of the normal this year.

On the basis of a normal yield of 10½ maunds of clean grain per acre the gross outturn of bhadoi paddy (autumn rice) is estimated at 2,119,200 tons this year as against 1,602,500 tons last year, or an increase of about 32 per cent.

R. S. FINLOW.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL,Second Forecast of the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1928-29.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1928-27, the area under winter rice in Bengal has represented some 18·4 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the Season.—As reported in the first forecast, weather at the outset continued practically dry, resulting in slow progress in preparatory tillage for deep-water paddy; but moderate rain in April facilitated sowings. Good showers in May favoured the growth of the germinated paddy and sowings of transplanted winter paddy in seed-beds. As the monsoon established itself earlier than usual, transplantation of paddy seedlings commenced in good time. Good rainfall in July and August also favoured rapid progress in the operation, with the result that a considerably increased area was brought under cultivation. Although rainfall in early September was a little defective, subsequent weather conditions were greatly helpful to the growth and development of the crops. On the whole, a very good crop may be expected throughout the Province.

Acreage.—According to the estimates returned by the District Officers, the total area under winter rice is 15,323,900 acres as compared with 13,391,700 and 13,210,100 acres in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—From the summary of the district returns appended, it will be seen that Bankura and Rangpur report more than a normal crop (i.e., 110 and 105 per cent., respectively). Fourteen districts report a normal crop of 100 per cent.; nine districts a crop varying from 80 to 98 per cent. Only two districts, viz., Nadia and Jessore, report a crop of 67 and 75 per cent., respectively. According to the above estimates, the provincial outturn works up to 97 per cent. as against 75 and 78 per cent. of the normal, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year. I consider the outturn will not fall short of 105 per cent.

Accepting 105 per cent. as the provincial outturn, the gross yield of the crop, on the basis of a normal yield of 12½ maunds of clean grain per acre, is estimated and 7,388,300 tons this year as against 4,611,900 and 4,731,400 tons, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

R. S. FINLOW,

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

(c) In calculating the amount of toll to be levied any fraction of 100 maunds less than 50 maunds is to be omitted and a fraction exceeding 50 maunds is to be charged as 50 maunds only.

4. Every vessel entering any of the channels shall be furnished with a ticket on paying the prescribed toll. The ticket will specify the date of entry, the maundage of the vessel and the amount of toll paid.

5. Vessels employed exclusively on works connected with the maintenance and improvement of the lines of channels in question or on the conveyance on duty of Government servants or of members or employees of the District Board shall be exempted from paying toll. No other vessels shall be exempted.

Every vessel or raft remaining in any one of the channels more than one month without authority from the Supervisor shall be subject to be summarily removed.
